Question: May the voucher be transferred to another family member in the event of the death of the voucher holder?

Answer: The voucher may be transferred to the partner or spouse. If there is no partner or spouse, the voucher may be transferred to the remaining adult family member, so long as that person has been a part of the household for at least one year with Housing Authority approval. If there are multiple adults, the remaining members must decide who will become the new voucher holder. If the remaining family member is a minor, another adult authorized to care for the minor child may be approved to reside in the home and may be issued the voucher.

The voucher will not be transferred to any party who has been living in the household without the approval of the Housing Authority or a person designated as a live-in aide.
